PUBLIC SCHOOLS

OPEN MONDAY

ON SEPTEMBER TWELFTH, JUST SIX MORE DAYS TILL SCHOOL DAYS.

Three Excellent Buildings, a Corps of Twenty-two Teachers, and Twelve Hundred Students.

Everything is in readiness for the Ada public schools to open next Monday.

This year's enrollment will probably be something over twelve hundred. All pupils below the ninth grade will attend the public schools as it is understood that none without an eighth grade diploma will be admitted to the normal, unless they are able to pass a satisfactory entrance examination.

To meet the increasing demands of the city's great army of coming men and women three modern brick school buildings have been erected and completed—sixty-five thousand dollars having been spent for that purpose during the past year—and a corps of twenty-two teachers is employed. Few cities, if any can boast of better buildings and equipment, and a better school faculty than this one at present. In the selection of teachers the board has wisely chosen only those who are well qualified in education and experience to meet the responsibility of directing and impressing the plastic minds of Ada's boys and girls.

The present school year will be eight months, divided into two terms sixteen weeks each; the first beginning September the twelfth and ending January twelfth, the second term opens January the fifteenth and closes May the seventh.

Next Monday will be enrollment and classification day, and no pupil will be allowed to enter or remain in a school out side his subdistrict only by the permission of the superintendent. Each pupil will be given a printed list of books for his respective grade. There will be no regular school work in the afternoon of the first day, however the teachers will have a meeting at the south side building at that time.

There will be a short program at each school on the opening morning. These programs, while not completed as yet will consist of an invocation, addresses on important subjects of school interest by some of the patrons, possibly talks or papers by some of the faculty, songs and other things that go to make the most important day of school start successfully.

South School.

Prof. Ben M. McCurry of Hendrix College, Arkansas, who was principal of Willard school last year has the principalship of the South School and will have eighth grade work.

Miss Gussie Bartley of the Sam Houston Normal of Texas who taught the Fifth grade in the North school last year has the seventh grade at the South School.

Miss Mary C. Brown of Warrensburg (Mo.) Normal, a teacher of successful experience will have the South Side sixth grade.

Miss Mamie Matthews taught the sixth grade last year but has the fifth this year.

Miss Nancy V. Ernstmeier, who is a well known teacher in this county and who was employed at Roff last year takes the South Side fourth grade.

The third grade of this school will have for their teacher Miss Rebecca Tolbert, whose pleasing personality has won for her success in her chosen field.

Miss Katie Robinson one of the E. C. N. graduates who was elected to the second grade, has resigned to accept a position nearer to her home, Tecumseh.

The first grade will be taught by Miss Janie Smith and Miss Mildred Timberlake. Miss Smith is especially well qualified and experienced in primary and kindergarten work. Miss Timberlake who has been connected with Ada's schools longer than any other of the present teachers and as supervisor of the second and third grades in the Normal Training school last year has done special work in the University of Chicago this summer.

North School.

Prof. A. Floyd, formerly superintendent at Asher, Okla. and who has taught successfully in this county is principal and will do eighth grade work.

Miss Dora Fieldings is a Warrensburg graduate of successful experience and will have the seventh grade.

Rev. J. D. Austin, a life-long teacher, too well known to this city for encomiums to be necessary will teach the sixth grade.

The fifth grade will be taught by Miss Emma Lahe of Henderson College, Ark., an experienced and successful teacher.

The fourth grade teacher is Miss Ula Clara Sims, home talent, who has made a success in the school room.

The third grade will have for their teacher none other than Miss Catherine Edmonston who has been teaching in the Ada schools for the past few years.

For the second grade the teacher will be Miss Mattie Currie who did successful practice work in the normal last year.

The first grade will have two more Warrensburg graduates, Misses Catherine and Mae Grant, Miss Mae having taught here in Willard school last year.

Willard School.

Miss Nell Rees is principal and teacher of the sixth and seventh grades. As principal of North School last year Miss Rees displayed rare tact and executive ability.

Mrs. Hammett a teacher of splendid qualifications and experience will have the fourth and fifth grades. Miss Margaret McKay one of the teachers of North school last year takes the second and third grades.

Miss Lillie Wingo who is a primary teacher of several years successful experience will have the first grade.

NEWS AND DEMOCRAT EFFECT CONSOLIDATION

The News Publishing and Printing Company. That is the name of the latest industrial enterprise launched here. It is the name of the corporation that has taken over the Ada Daily and Weekly News and Ada Weekly Democrat. The details of the merger have just been completed and a charter has been applied for. As soon as it arrives a permanent organization will be effected.

The capital stock of the concern is $20,000 of which $15,000 is paid up. This makes it one of the strongest companies in the county, and the combined equipment of the two offices makes the new office one of the best in the state.

The business will be under the management of A. B. Yeager, who for the past two years has held a similar position with the Democrat. Byron Norrell will be the managing editor. O. B. Weaver will for the present hold the position of associate editor, and Asbury D. Tanner, continue as city editor. Miss Mollie Jernigan will probably continue with the company for some time to come.

The mechanical department will be under the direction of Geo. Ellsworth who has been foreman of the Democrat office for over two years. C. D. Tanner, who has for some months held the position of foreman of the News, will continue with the business. John Thrasher, linotype operator, will as for the past three years, grind out the type. Miss Laura Whipple will also remain, while Jim Grigsby will now occupy the honored post of "devil."

The proprietors of the two papers conferred with the business men of Ada before deciding to take this step of consolidation and met with a most enthusiastic response when the proposition was explained to them. The new enterprise enters upon its career with the brightest prospects, and being in the hands of thoroughly experienced men who have lived here for years, there is no reason why it should not succeed from the start. Furthermore, with the exception of the cement plant there is not an enterprise in the county that will pay out as much per year in salaries as the new printing company.

Postoffice Moved at Last.

As soon as the last mail was distributed Saturday afternoon, work began on moving fixtures to the new Odd Fellow building on 12th street. Everything was in place before Sunday morning and the business of the office moved along as smoothly as if nothing had happened. To R. W. Allen belongs the distinction of having deposited the first mail that came to the office after its removal.

The new quarters are much more commodious than the old and much better lighted. It seems just a little awkward to break ourselves of the habit to head for Main street when the mail comes in, but we will all soon get used to it.

ture machine which a protective buyer was testing. He was using an old fashioned film of celluloid, a substance that is highly combustible. When it caught fire and exploded the fire that sprang up all around it was too great to be controlled. Two boys were in the building at the time but made their escape before the fire had made much headway.

The building was erected about two years ago by Harry Parks at a cost of more than $2,000, but was sold by him last Friday to E. W. Hardin. There was $600 insurance on the building and $350 on the fixtures.

A most disastrous conflagration was narrowly averted. A strong west wind was blowing and for a time every wooden structure on East Main street was threatened by the flying sparks but most fortunately it began raining about the time the fire started and this put out the sparks before they traveled very far. Had fire once started along the street there is no guessing how much damage would have been done.

The telephone cables both on East Main street and North Rennie were burned in two and today the patrons along those lines are cut off from the rest of the town.

LABOR DAY AT OKLA. CITY

Labor from all over the state turned out to attend the great celebration at Oklahoma City Monday. From all accounts this was the biggest affair of the kind ever pulled off in the state. Of course the event of the day was the parade which took place in the morning. Says the Oklahoman:

Promptly at 10:30 a. m. William Frahl, grand marshal of the day, gave the long-awaited command to march. The parade was on. Slowly it began to wind itself along Grand avenue to Broadway, where the line turned north and continued as far as Ninth street, countermarching back on Broadway to Main street, and then to Dewey street, where the parade disbanded.

Mayor Henry Scales, together with his secretary, George B. Saunders, and Councilman E. W. Vance, led the long procession in a big automobile, Leon Derr, color bearer was near by.

The labor queen, Miss Rebecca Owen, seated high upon her throne and surrounded by a group of beautiful young women, followed in line. The float was of beautiful design and was drawn by four horses. Following closely at the sides of the big float were two score or more heralds—all girls dressed in immaculate white and with blue sashes draped over their shoulders. Martial music attended the first division.

The carpenters and joiners held the positions of honor in recognition of their numbers. They were the first organization to pass in line. They wore the regulation carpenter's apron and a pink badge.

The electrical workers and sheet metal workers followed in close procession. The latter wore peculiar hats of tin, with metal bands. These bright hats stood out in declined contrast to the thousands of soiled straw hats which had seen service during the summer campaign. Metal belts and copper buckles completed the effective dress of the metal workers. In their hands they carried metal sticks.

One of the prettiest sights of the morning was the appearance made by the painters who were next in line. The painters wore spick and span duck trousers, white hats, white shirts and soft white ties.

More serviceable, however, was the dress of the plumbers and gas-fitters. Their clothing was dark. Each wore a black hat. The plasterers wore white duck trousers and white caps.

Following in order, were the cement workers, structural iron workers, stone cutters and hod carriers. The hod carriers' organization is composed of negroes.

Claude Thomas, leading the second division of the parade had under his command the leather workers whose dress also was peculiar. Each wore a turned down leather collar, and a neat black tie. The teamsters' union which is only one year old and has a membership of nearly five hundred appeared in blue striped overalls. Most of the men marched on foot, but many appeared driving wagons.

The printers, as usual, made an excellent appearance in their blue trousers white shirts and white felt hats. The bookbinders, pressmen and stereotypers followed closely after.

Following came the horsehoers, barbers, bakers, cooks and waiters, laundry workers and stage employees.

The third division was under the command of J. W. Ward and J. W. Denny. It was composed almost exclusively of floats. The O. K. Transfer company had fourteen of its wagons in line. The Franz Hat company had a mammoth house made of hats of all descriptions. Safely on the top were a score of silk hats. Four gentlemen in afternoon dress, Prince Albert coats, striped trousers, gray suede gloves, and silk hats walked at the side. T. J. Cannon was there with a mammoth globe representing Mother Earth. A big sign bore the legend, "It Pays to Advertise." There was a big spot on the globe to show Oklahoma City.

Governor Haskell made the main speech of the afternoon. He was followed by Mayor Scales of Oklahoma City, E. J. Giddings, Frank M. Colville, and Oscar Ameringer.

NO COAL SHORTAGE

FOR ADA THIS YEAR
Some uneasiness is felt in some quarters lest the prolonged coal strike will mean a shortage of coal this winter. Manager Frick of the Ada Ice and Fuel Co. states that there will be no shortage at Ada. He has a contract covering a good part of the winter, and besides that will do a wholesale business for a big mine.

FIRE FIEND VISITS ADA

About three o'clock Monday afternoon the Parks Airdome on East Main street caught fire and in a very few minutes was reduced to a pile of ashes. When the fire company arrived the fire had made such headway that nothing could be done to save it and the fire boys turned their attention to John Rindard's store building across the street and by hard work saved it from destruction.

The fire was the result of an explosion of the film in a moving pic-

CONSOLIDATED.

Great events do not always cast their shadows—at least if they do, the shadows are very short ones. A week ago there was not an indication anywhere that there would soon be change in the relations of the Ada News and Ada Democrat, but when the subject was once opened and the question discussed in all its phases by the proprietors of the two publications, terms were easily agreed upon and one strong enterprise now flourishes in the field where formerly two weak ones thrived only moderately well.

For ten years the two papers have existed in Ada, doing all in their power to advance the interests of town and county, and although both have prospered to a moderate degree, the time has come and the city has reached a point that demands a stronger medium to advertise the advantages of the city and county than the limited capital of the two offices permitted. This consolidation was brought about for the advantages of all parties concerned. It will not be so great a drain on the business men of the town to support one paper as two and on the other hand the increased facilities and reduction in the expense of operation will enable us to give much more for the same money than was possible before. We talked the matter over with the business men of the town before finally taking this step and the enthusiastic manner in which they received the plan, surpassed our most sanguine expectations.

The editorial policy of the paper will be conservative. It is our policy to give our very best efforts towards making Ada and Pontotoc county greater and more prosperous, and in so doing we shall take no part in any factional fight and do all in our power to keep down these little feuds that have proved the ruin of so many towns. A united people is our wish and our policy will be along that line, for we are bound to no clique or faction.

"ADA'S ASININE EDITORS."

If the Socialist doctrine of giving every man what he produces should be put into effect what a Dickens of a fix some of their great leaders would be in. About all these leaders seem capable of raising is lots of hell and we fancy they would not relish an application of their doctrines on that point.—Ada Weekly Democrat.

The above journalistic gem was culled from the columns of the aforesaid Ada "weekly," and is a fair sample of the anti-Socialist dope which comes from the same source every week—or rather as often as the asinine biped who sits on the democratic tripod is able to lift the C. O. D. charges on his patent guts and preserve his mail entry by "getting out."

The Ada Democrat, like many other patent inside prevaricators and pink pill palliatives which reach our exchange table, uses the United States mails under the false pretense of being a newspaper, while the personage whose cognomen adorns the masthead devotes his time between drinks to lying about Socialism and vilifying members of the Socialist party. That the editor of the sheet in question is a Texas "dimmycrat" and proud of it can be ascertained at long range by the audibleness of his "hee haw," and at short range by the length of his ears.

Ever and anon this parody on God's finished product yaps and yaps about Socialists and their tactics, but is always equally as energetic in hiding the footprints of Pontotoc democracy and covering the slimy trail of her illicit citizenship.

When a dignified assemblage of leading business and professional men adjourn from the commercial club room in the wee small hours of the morning, take four wealthy white men from the county jail and murder them in cold blood before chance for trial has been had, Pon-totoc's Socialist hating editors close up like clams on matters local and fill space with gush about Socialists being opposed to law and order, or in favor of violence and anarchy, etc. etc., ad nauseam.

The fact that their leading citizens commit suicide over unmentionable domestic difficulties; that prostitutes and boot-leggers hold high carnival under the very shadow of the city hall; that husbands assassinate wives and wives assassinate husbands and escape the meshes of the law for the lack of twelve honest men to sit on a criminal jury; and the fact that it's a bad week in Pontotoc county when there is not at least one murder never brings forth an audible sound from these brave defenders of virtue and morality and the moulders of public opinion. They are too busy fighting Socialists to even venture a criticism of the public officials who sit idly by and let anarchy and bloodshed run riot.

The trouble with Pontotoc's editorial donkeys is they are scared. The democracy in that neck of the woods is on the extreme end of the limb, and the limb is being sawed off by the Socialists at a two-forty gait, as witness the results in the recent primary. A big Socialist vote in Pontotoc county next November will do more to redeem that locality from utter disgrace than anything the law and order league could do in a century, and we are expecting that kind of a vote.—Industrial Democrat.

The above is from the fertile brain and ready pen of Marvin Brown who once tried to run a paper in Ada, and who was recently expelled from the Socialist local of Oklahoma City as being too infernally sorry even to be a Socialist. It goes to emphasize just what the Democrat said of his class of Socialists-for-revenue-only: They can raise nothing but hell. Furthermore, unless Mr.
Brown's personal habits have greatly improved since he left Ada—and the above article would indicate about four sheets in the wind—he will probably apply for a position in a government-owned distillery when socialism triumphs, so that he can be in easy reach of the product of his toil of which product the socialists claim there will never be a surplus. BYRON NORRELL.

AN ADVERTISING GRAFTER.

From time to time we have mentioned how badly some of the business men of Ada are skinned by travelling promoters of some cheap advertising scheme that brings returns to no one except the grafter himself. Their plans vary but little. Usually it is some card, blotter or similar device with such time-worn phrases as "John Smith, dealer in groceries. These cards are tacked up in some corner and seldom seen and still more seldom read by the passer-by.

The latest fakir stung the Ada business men—only a few of them we are pleased to note—good and plenty. He had up a scheme involving the printing of a card with the names of a few firms on it with a promise to redeem trade coupons at certain rate. Well he printed the cards all right, but somehow forgot the coupon part of his contract, likewise his board bill, and there are some wiser people in Ada than before he came. Many towns where the merchants are organized have a rule that no advertising plan except through the newspapers shall be patronized until it has been examined and approved by a committee of the organization. This should be the case here for the methods employed by these traveling grafters are often little short of blackmail. They have learned the towns where the business public is wise to them and steer to places like Ada.

The man whose patronage is worth going after is one who reads the papers and keeps posted on the prices of the leading and most enterprising merchants by reading their ads. Consequently most of the leading firms of the United States use no other kind of advertising, unless it be through catalogues to handle the mail order business they have built up through extensive advertising in the papers.

SPIRITUALISM.

What is life? What is death? Does death end all? Can the spirits of the dead communicate with the living? These questions have from the earliest dawn of creation held a strong fascination for every tribe and nation. Man has a horror of being utterly annihilated by the cold hand of death, and the belief in immortality is as old as mankind itself.

To peer behind the veil that separates us from the great unknown has been the dream of ages. Thousands of so-called mediums have fattened on the credulity of the multitude but never yet has there been a communication from the dead that has received the acknowledgement of scientists as being genuine. Investigations of the human intellect, however, have revealed so many phenomena that of late years many scientists of highest standing have given serious thought to this question of communicating with the spirits of the dead.

The death of Prof. James of Harvard, one of the best and most favorably known scientists of the century, has given additional interests to this subject. To put the whole matter to a final test he left two letters in a vault with the instructions that they are not to be opened until a certain time after his death. No one knows the contents of those letters, and if the spirits of the dead can communicate with the living he promised to reveal the contents of these letters through a medium. After that the letters are to be taken from the vault and a comparison made. Never was a creed so thoroughly put to the test as in this instance. If nothing is revealed it will be very conclusive evidence that the whole doctrine of spiritualism is a humbug. If the test proves successful it will open a wide field of research and there is no way of guessing where it will end. Man has really learned only a very small part of the secrets of the Creator and it is very probable that in the ages to come the people of those days will look back on us as only half-civilized and densely ignorant.

LABOR DRY.

From the beginning of time it has been customary to commemorate great events of history by observing a holiday. Nothing in modern times is of more importance than the advance of labor. It has advanced in dignity and in the esteem of the race as nothing else ever did and as labor has advanced the civilization of all nations has kept pace.
Therefore it is indeed fitting that one day of the year be set apart to celebrate the cause of labor. For centuries a day similar to this has been observed in China. To show his high regard for labor the emperor puts his hand to the plow and runs a furrow. The myth of Atlas supporting the earth upon his shoulders becomes a reality in these modern times when the laborer supports the race upon his brawny shoulders.

The Norman Transcript claims that that town has more pretty girls in proportion to its size than any town in the state, and alleges that even the democrats will admit the truth of that statement. Well, now Burke, we do not know much about your town, but you will have to go some if you beat Purcell on a proposition like that.—Purcell Republic.

What awful liars or dense ignoramuses some editors are. Bless your ignorant souls, brethren, you ought to come out of your shells and pay a short visit to Ada, the home of the most beautiful girls in this state of lovely women. Both the editor and associate editor of the News are old bachelors and know whereof we speak.

New Orleans and the whole state of Louisiana, for that matter, are going after the World's Exposition of 1915 to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal in 1915. The state has put up bonds to the amount of $6,500,000 and the business interests of the city $1,350,000 for the exposition, and this will be an appeal that congress will find some difficulty in getting around. San Francisco is also after this great fair, but we have no data on what that city proposes to do in the way of financing it.

Talk about entertainment we are having it just now. The consolidation of the News and Democrat has meant a lot of moving and replacing of machinery and material and it has kept the whole force jumping to keep up with it.

TIPS On Choosing a Bank

Before lining up with a bank you should investigate several points in connection with it. In the first place ascertain whether or not the bank is prospering and developing along with the other lines of business of the community. If a bank's business isn't prospering something is wrong. In the second place are the officers and directors of the bank good, safe business men who deal squarely with the people? Watch out for a bank operated by tricksters or sharpers. In the third place do the directors really direct or are they merely figure heads? Look out for a bank whose directors know little or nothing about its business.

We want you to investigate this institution. We know its business is prospering and increasing right along. You know its officers and directors and we believe they are safe, honorable, business men. The directors of this bank say what shall and shall not be done. They pass upon the loans regularly and their instructions are carried out to the letter. This bank is what they make it—A Strong, Prospering, Conservative institution.

The Girl Grad.

Mark Twain was a firm believer in the higher education of woman, but Hartford still remembers a speech he made one June to a platform of Hartford girl graduates.

This speech, a humorous attack on the college girl, ended:

"Go forth, Fall in love, Marry. Set up housekeeping. And then, when your husband wants a shirt ironed send out for a griddle to do it with."

Typographical Errors.

Speaking of typographical errors in newspapers, James R. Tanner of New York, a former printer and newspaper man, who was seen at the Arlington, said: "Two articles had been prepared for a New York daily, one containing a sermon preached by an eminent divine and the other about the freaks of a mad dog. Unfortunately the foreman, when making up the form, 'mixed' them, producing an article which ran something like this: 'The Rev. James Thompson, rector St. Andrew's church, preached to a large concourse of people on Sunday last. This was his last sermon. In a few weeks he will bid farewell to his congregation, as his physicians advise him to cross the Atlantic. He exhorted his brethren and sisters, and after offering a devout prayer took a whim to cut up some frantic freaks. He ran up Timothy street to Johnson, and down Benefit street to College. At this stage of the proceedings a couple of boys seized him, tied a tin kettle to his tail and he again started. A great crowd collected, and for a time there was a grand scene of noise, running and confusion. After some trouble he was shot by a policeman.—Washington Herald."

A Tender-Hearted Maid.

Once upon a time there lived a child of gentle mien and manners mild; she was so tender and kind she wept to see a window blind. She feared it might give the window pain to leave it standing in the rain. Her maiden aunt she would beg not to stone raisins, beat an egg, or from potatoes take the eyes. Oh, how this maid did agonize! And when she saw her aunt whip cream, with horror, she would sob and scream. The very thought of killing time appeared to her a dreadful crime, and thought to music she inclined, to beat a measure seemed unkind. To see the cowslip by the river with apprehension made her shiver; to cut a page or turn it down would cause a deprecation frown. And when she saw them shivering in the chill autumn air she knitted stockings for the trees because their limbs were bare. Her heart so oft with anguish wrung, caused the poor maid to die quite young.—The Widow.

Had to Hurry.

Years ago, when there were only wooden sidewalks in the city of Winnipeg, Canada, holes were bored in the planks to let the water run through. In the morning twilight a policeman found a man with the tip of his wooden leg in one of these holes and hurriedly walked around it. "What are ye doin' here?" asked the policeman. "G'way, offsher," said the man. "Got to get home before ol' lady wakes up."

ALWAYS MISS MOTHER

WHEN SHE IS GONE

Dragging two heavy grips in one hand, the other loaded with a big crippled child, a weary, worn looking man came hurrying as rapidly as his baggage and one trailing girl of 8 years would permit through the Texas & Pacific depot one day last week and out of the gates to the cotton belt train.

The little girl walking in the rear was carrying a bundle of lunch, evidently bought at some store, as there was no sign of feminine hands having touched it, no dainty surprise package done up in dainty napkins; just a lot of things in paper sacks shoved into a basket as they were purchased. The back of the child's dress was buttoned all away and her braids of hair looked as if they had been done by a man. She was clean, but not the neat cleanliness that a woman's deft fingers could impart.

The little cripple was even more awkwardly dressed, and as she huddled in the bend of her father's elbow held onto his neck as if to relieve him of as much of the load as she could. Occasionally he stopped and with his knee gently boosted the child farther up into his arm, for she was a heavy load and continually slipped. His arm seemed half paralyzed with the weight of her as if he had carried her a long distance.

But with neither of the children did he show the faintest sign of impatience. Loaded down as he was, he kept a backward glance for the little one in the rear, encouraging her with the kindest words as she lagged or became bewildered in the crowd. Father and children seemed to miss the mother's hand, the one who would have fastened those little dresses right, have made the father's burden lighter and would have shared his anxiety in his hurrying to board their train. Wherever that mother was, she was sorely missed and the small family showed the absence of a feminine touch in their clothing and their general demeanor.—Fort Worth Record.

COURT HOUSE GOES TO 12TH ST.

The county commissioners by a vote of two to one have accepted the proposition of the owners of the 12th street property to rent the premises for court house quarters. With the exception of two rooms all of the upper floors of the Tobin-Little and Dags buildings will be rented to the county for the sum of $110 per month. The 12th street men also agree to move the jail and the office furniture free of cost to the county. The proposition is for one year with an option for the county to renew for five years.

The owner of the present building offered to renew the present contract for two years. His terms were $100 per month. This with the rent paid for the offices of the county attorney and superintendent make the total $117.

Commissioners Floyd and Short voted to move and Commissioner Rinard voted against it.

Labor Union Men to Oklahoma City.

The local union of the Carpenters and Joiners, at its last meeting voted to participate in the great labor day celebration at Oklahoma City. It elected sixteen delegates who went up on the Sunday afternoon train. The delegates going were: H. K. Reed, H. B. Lux, W. S. Richardson, Frank Smith, N. W. Seabolt, W. J. Curdin, W. T. Clark, J. M. Ross, A. W. Landers, M. M. Cotton, T. A. Scott, W. S. Martin, J. L. Carmack, Frank L. Neal, I. J. Carter, N. Lamb.

CEMENT PLANT TO INCREASE OUTPUT

President A. L. Beck of the Oklahoma Portland Cement Co. informs us that plans have been perfected for the issuance of $200,000 additional stock with which to increase the capacity of the cement plant 1,000 barrels per day. This will make the capacity of the plant 3,000 barrels per day, or one million barrels per year, and afford employment to 100 more men. Mr. Beck is confident that there will be no trouble whatever in putting the plans through, for a good share of the stock has already been subscribed.

The cement company has just taken another precautionary measure for the preservation of the health of its employees. Every morning six barrels of water is shipped in from the artesian well at the quarries and provided for the men. This water comes from a depth of 750 feet and is as pure as can be obtained in the United States. As typhoid fever is often the result of impure water, it can readily be seen that this matter is of great importance to the men.

Card of Thanks.

We very much appreciate and sincerely thank those friends that came to our rescue last afternoon at the time of the fire, thereby showing their interest in our welfare. We wish that the same kind providence that protected us in that critical moment will ever protect and guard them. Yours truly,

PETITION TO CREATE ANOTHER COUNTY

Oklahoma City, Sept. 5.—For the purpose of creating a new county to be named Seger, a petition containing the names of over 1,000 residents of the west half of Caddo county was filed Monday with the governor. A hearing is asked before Governor Haskell so that the requirements of the law may be verified and a date for an election set. The hearing will be next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The new county, should it be created, will be made up of thirteen townships from the west half of Caddo county, five and one-half townships from the east half of Washita county and three townships from Kiowa county. It will have 700 square miles of territory, a population of 17,000 and taxable property valued at $7,500,000. The county will be thirty-nine miles long and from eighteen to twenty-two miles wide.

Carnegie, situated in the exact geographical center of the territory in all probability will be named as the county seat. The reason for its selection is due to its railroad and other facilities. Carnegie is on the main roads to the different townships in the proposed county and would be easily accessible to the farmers.

The reason given for the desire to create a new county is because of the distance from the county seats of the surrounding counties to the farmers of outlying districts. Especially is this true to the people of the west half of Caddo. They are compelled to travel twenty-five miles by railroad and twenty-five miles with a horse before reaching their county seat.

The territory is one of the richest farming districts in the state. Running through the middle is the Washita river and to the south, South Cache creek. There are very few negroes in the section.

The name of the county was unanimously selected in honor of Capt. Seger who, a number of years ago established an old Indian school in the north portion. For years it has been a landmark and the residents of the proposed county believe that by making the county Seger they are paying the pioneer a well deserved tribute.

James Cunningham, L. P. Crose, John McCall, Mike Delaney, H. L. Bliss, R. A. Thorn, Lewis and Howard Davis constituted the delegation to present the petition. They are prepared to furnish evidence to substantiate their claims in regards to the requirements of the law and confidently expect that the governor will issue a call for an election on the matter.

The petition makes the third new county sought in Oklahoma in recent months, Swanson county, created from parts of Comanche and Kiowa counties, already has been formed and is carrying on county government, although protest against it is pending in the courts. Cache county, to be formed from the southern part of Comanche county, is being sought now and a call of election on the subject is expected soon. The Seger petition is the third.

DALLAS WINS THE TEXAS LEAGUE PENNANT

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 5.—By winning Fort Worth, Maloney's Giants won both games of a double header from the 1910 championship of the Texas league Monday. A crowd of 8,000 persons saw the games and it required a platoon of police to keep them in order. After the second game was called on account of darkness the crowd went wild, throwing cushions, chairs and hats in celebration of the event.

Burke's wildness gave Dallas the victory in the first game, he walking seven men. Gowdy sent in two runners with a pinch hit in the second game, Dale had the Panthers at his mercy and they never had a chance to score. McKay's error and Gowdy's single gave Dallas her two runs.

In the sixth inning Lattimore, who had been put out and suspended Sunday, appeared in the park and the efforts to put him out required so much time that when it was accomplished it was too dark to resume play and the game was called.
